

Ms Areti Gavrilidis

General Manager, Brisbane Diamantina Health Partners

Areti Gavrilidis is the General Manager of Brisbane Diamantina Health Partners. She has a business, health and science background, working in both the public and private sectors.

In 2002 she moved from Austin Health to the Princess Alexandra Hospital Centres for Health Research to support, facilitate and strengthen health and medical research within the hospital campus. In 2007 she was appointed as the Principal Researcher, working with the Smart State Council to prepare a report to advance Queensland's health and medical research and development outcomes, which led directly to the establishment of Queensland Health's Office of Health and Medical Research.

In 2008 Ms Gavrilidis was awarded a Churchill Trust Fellowship to study models facilitating translational research. After visiting over 40 prestigious leading research Academic Health Science organisations in the USA, Canada and the UK and interviewing over 130 key individuals, she has applied this international knowledge to her current position.

In 2008 she was a recipient of an Australasian Research Management Society (ARMS)– International Network of Research Management Societies Scholarship.

She has qualifications in science and applied science, and this scientific background is strengthened by her interest and experience in business management and augmented with a postgraduate degree in Business and a Masters in Business Administration. Over the years she has served on a number of local, national and international committees and boards including the ARMS International Committee.